

RICERCA & SVILUPPO

A research and development: working to widening our know- out both scientific and technic then not only target to industrial and commercial fields;
B industrial research: reseaching compared with the meaning to achieve new technologies in order to improve the management of the products' design, the production process and service, then, process of the products' quality, production and related services;
C development activity: make true about the result of our research with a plan, project, process and design like prototyping, designs' samples and master plans, then more with all other processes involved.